GATE HIS REMOVAL.

Solemnly Averring that it was Made Without Sufficient Cause-Rumors of Political Bar-gains Directed Against the Governor. ALBANY, March 26 .- The topic of greatest interest in the Assembly to-day was the communication of ex-County Clerk Gumbleton. Preliminary interest in it was worked up by lounge in the barroom, and fell asleep. Then the air of mystery which preceded its presentation. It was whispered among a chosen few | the neighboring barrooms until 11 o'clock, and

Mr. Somit ran lowerd the with Rule and the portunity to be fairly heard in answer to the accusations made to the Governor. He says that the charges cannot be sustained; that they were made through political intrigue, and that may be a substained; that they were made through political intrigue, and that may be a substained; that they were made through political intrigue, and that may be a substained; that they were made through political intrigue, and that may be a substained; that they were made through political intrigue, and that may be a substained; that they were substained; that they were substained; that they were substained in the substained in solor were killed. All attempts to reduce the salaries of any of the State officials were voted down, until at length they were laid on the table. Amid general inaghter.

Mr. Sloan. Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, won a red mark to-day in the passage of the annual Supply bill. Usually debate upon it has consumed from two days to a week, but in just one hour and a half to-day it had not only been read through, but had been passage by the Assemby without a dissenting vote. This was due to the universal belief that it is, as Mr. Fish said, "the cleanest supply bill that has ever passed the Assembly." The only point upon which there was any discussion was over a motion to reduce the appropriation for the Catholic Protectory from $50,000 to $25,000. Mr. Sloan, in a short speech, showed that it was the duty of the State, as long as it sent juvenile delinquents to the Protectory, to assist in supporting it, and that it was in every respect a worthly institution. The attempt to cut down the appropriation was defeated. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The bill fixing the salary of the New York County Clerk at $7,500 a year passed the Assembly; also the bill providing for the restoration of Tompkins square as a park. The bill providing for the issue of New York city assessment bonds in sums of $25, $50, and $100 passed the Senate, and goes to the Governor.

Mayor Cooper sent a reply to the resolution of the Assembly asking for his views as to the propriety of reducing the salaries of tenchers, police officers, and firemen. He says that no plan can be devised for a specific reduction of the bay of teachers, owing to their different resonsibilities in schools of the same grade, rie thinks that police officers and firemen hereafter appointed should draw less salary than the present members, whose pay he does not favor reducing.

THE WOMAN WHO REALLY SUFFERS.

Washington, March 20.—There is a lady in Washington who might justly bring a suit against both plaintiff and defendant in the Oliver-Cameron was for consequential damages. To the best of my belief the only real sufferer from wounded feeling in the matter is another Mrs. Mary Oliver, who is utterly innocent of aught save the misfortune of having the same name as the plaintiff and having been rightfully appointed from Pennsylvania to a clerkship in the Treasury Department at the instance of Simon Cameron when Senator. He knew her husband, who was one of the stanch supporters of the clan Cameron, and advised him to run for Congress. Mr. Oliver did so and was defeated, and lost fortune and courage to battle with life. He died not long afterward, and his widow was appointed, at Senator Cameron's instance, to a clerkship in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, which she has for several years filled with credit to herself, and has earned the esteem of all associated with her. The similarity of name with that of Senator Cameron's pursuer, as well as the fact that the other was also appointed at his request to a cierkship in the same department, has, from the time the suit began, two years ago, until now wrought untold wretchedness to the innocent woman. Naturally she has been perpetually confounded with the litigant. The day after the suit first commenced newspaper men she has denied being the plaintiff she has rarely been believed by strangers, and she suffers in consequence. Her hair has actually turned gray since the suit was instituted as a result of the constant mortification to which site is subjected. She has toid my mother more than once of nights of agony following the blunders which have pained and humiliated her whenever she has been brought in contact with the least the clan Cameron, which possesses so much influence with the Pennsylvania Legislature, can do is to have her name changed.

NOT JUSTIFIABLE KILLING.

John Smith Sentenced for Life, at 29, for the Murder of Henry Madden.

Henry Madden, William Green, and Robert Keating, English sailors, the first being a sailor of the bark Humbert, entered "The Sailor's Return," a barroom at 13 Oliver street, at about 8 o'clock on the evening of the 23d of January last. They had been drinking, and Madden and Keating were intoxicated. After the three had drank, Madden laid down on a the air of mystery which preceded its presentation. It was whispered among a chosen few before the House met that something startling was coming: that the first move of the foliowers of John Kelly in the attack upon the Governor was to be made to-day, and that the war was to be begun and prosecuted without asking or giving quarter. The arrival of a number of conspicuous Tammany men last evening, and their early attendance in the gorgeous Assembly Chamber this morning, where they held whispered consultations with Statesman Holahan, Lucky Grady, Beal Brummel Seelacher, and other Tammany braves, and occasionally buttonholed Old Sait and others of the Republican leaders, served to intensify the interest. Before the Spoaker's desk was a roll of manuscript which Old Sait seemed to guard with jealous care. At length, after the session was well begun, he handed it to the Clerk to read. Instantly there was quiet. Every word of the Clerk was heard distinctly.

Mr. Gumbleton avers that he had not an opportunity to be fairly heard in answer to the accusations made to the Governor. He says that the charges cannot be sustained; that they were made through holitical intrigue, and that the Governor was influenced in the same manner. He asks for a legislative inquiry.

At Ozen members were instantly shouting, Mr. Speaker." The dignified Strahan shouted, But Old Sait looked directly over Strahan's heard to the further end of the charges cannot be sustained; that they were made through holitical intrigue, and that the Governor was influenced in the same manner. He asks for a legislative inquiry.

WILLIAM MANLY'S DEATH.

Fatally Hurt by Police Officer Harvey on Christmas Day.

William Manly, whose leg was broken on Dec. 24, while Officer Harvey of the Prince street police was arresting him, died yesterday

A MAN that has worked at carpentering for 2 or 3 years, with tools, 136 Worth st. in St. Vincent's Hospital. In a deposition made reb. 23, under his avowed expectation of a fatal termination to his illness. Manly set forth that, on the above date, Harvey assaulted him at Prince street and South Fifth avenue. He was thrown down, and his leg was broken by the fall. Manly said he gave the officer no greater provocation than his asking him to drink in honor of the Christmas senson. Harvey then dragged him to the station, but, as he was perfectly sober, could make no charge against him. and he was sent to the hospital, in plac-locked in a cell.

Harvey, who is a large under ban, avers that the fall was an accident, and that, had not Manly been diseased through drink, it would not have resulted fatally. Harvey also exhibits a letter, purporting to have been written by a brother of Manly, in which the writer avows the relationship with shame, declares Manly to have been a disgrace to his name, and assures Harvey of sympathy instead of prosecution. Harvey asserts further that Manly was drunk when he arrested him, but the hospital officers say that, when Manly was received there two hours later, there was no odor of liquor about him.
